

THOMAS W. PHILLIPS.

1866 PRESENT SUBSCRIBERS WHO HAVE CONTINUED FROM THE FIRST YEAR 1903

THE following have responded to our repeated calls for the names of all present subscribers who began during the first year of the STANDARD, and have continued with us ever since. Some of them represent original subscribers who have passed away, but the subscription has been continuous. From the known difficulty of collecting such data, through the disinclination of subscribers to sending in their names, we are confident that not less than six hundred of the original five thousand are still standing with us in the work begun thirty-seven years ago. Of the original editorial force but one survives, the veteran Chas. L. Loos. Had we but the names who have only dropped from our list to join the great majority, it would be seen how few of those who joined hands in 1866 for a journalism worthy of our plea, have ever deserted the cause. How wisely they builded is now apparent to all who read the paper they helped to found.
